SOCIAL SKILLS
AND COMPETENCES

Researcher with experience in the scientific activity, Department of lexicology and lexicography of the "A. Philippide" Institute of Romanian Philology, the Iasi branch of the Romanian Academy

As a research scientist in the field of lexicography in this department, I gained experience working on The Romanian Language Dictionary (DLR), materialized in the writing and review of the articles I was responsible of.

As a linguist and philologist, I gained experience studying and doing research on important topics in philology, the history of old Romanian literary language, lexicology and literary language, and focused my attention, through the analysis of reception criticism, on some volumes from the recent literature. The results are reflected in published personal papers and in the lectures I gave at various scientific events (see my List of papers), in my contribution to a series of collective works and in the participation in several research projects listed below (see also my List of papers).

Constructive spirit, based on study and creativity, perseverance, rigurosity, thoroughness, and accuracy; Initiative, carefulness and altruism are qualities that I use:- in the way in which I organize my study and research program- in the projects I chose to collaborate on- in the way in which I organize different scientific manifestations.

Experience and pedagogical skills in teaching the Romanian language and literature

ORGANISATIONAL SKILLS AND COMPETENCES
